Tis' the True Season To Be Jolly

"Spring ushers in God's season of increase, deliverance, redemption"

The smell of pink jasmine fills the morning air, this sweet spring fragrance reminds us of God's promise of rain in due season to all who will keep his commandments. (Lev. 26:4) Spring ushers in God's season of increase, deliverance, redemption and blessing. Three times a year God calls his people to an assembly anoint them and bless the works of their hands. The first of these great celebrations is the spring festival of Passover, followed by the first fruits festival of Pentecost and ending with the great harvest festival of Tabernacles.

Like Esau, however, the majority of today's church has sold its natural inheritance as children of God for a few riotous and self-indulgent man made holidays. (Gen. 25:25-34) These eisegetical bowls of pottage filled with a plethora of paganistic customs and rituals are vain attempts to annul what God has established as holy unto him. God commanded his people to appear before him during the feast of unleavened bread, keep the Passover and on the day after Passover the priest is to wave an offering of thanksgiving on behalf of the people. (Lev. 23:10-11) Truly this is the season to be jolly, because of the anointing and blessing of the Lord. (Deut. 16:15, Isa. 10:27) Don't be an Esau and miss your appointment with God. (Gen. 27:30-38)

TRUE SEASON TO BE JOLLY

I know and understand that your pastor, teacher, or religious leader has told you that God's feast were done away with and are no longer binding. I even know the scriptures they've used to convince you of their error. First they told you that we are not to esteem one day above the other because one man esteems one day and another man some other day. (Rom. 14:4) What they failed to tell you is that God's feast days are just that; God's feast days and not someday that a man esteemed. (Lev. 23:2) Please don't confuse what God has ordained with what man has invented, God is not a man. (Num. 23:19, Eccl. 7:29) Take a serious look at the days that man esteems, birthdays, national holidays, mother's day, father's day, anniversaries and countless man made religious celebrations, i.e. Easter, Christmas, Halloween, Madi-Gras and more. You can't seriously believe God abolished his appointed times of blessing for this! Next your preacher told you Jesus blotted out God's feast days, nailing them to the cross. (Col. 2:14) I know your preacher didn't; so let me tell you, Jesus only blotted out those things that were against us and contrary to us. NOT THE BLESSING! Christ redeemed us from the curse of the law NOT THE BLESSING! (Gal. 13:3) That teacher of yours went on to tell you that we need only to get the leaven out of our hearts. (1 Cor. 5:7-8) And you took another "BIG GULP", of that eisegetical pottage, as you both over looked the first statement Paul made in verse eight of First Corinthians chapter five. THEREFORE LET US KEEP THE FEAST! Don't be deceived any longer the times appointed by God Tis' the True Season To Be Jolly! (Deut. 16:16) Truly spring is upon us and God's season of blessing is in the air, the day of the latter rain is nigh, let us celebrate the restoration of earth's bounty, the redemption of man and the out pouring of the Holy Spirit. (Joel 2:21-25) Let us keep the feast with joy for Christ our Passover is sacrificed for us!
